

Letter from the CEA President

Members,

Our new Superintendent has brought changes to Columbus City Schools. While change is inevitable, plans that have a significant impact on the students, families, and staff of our District can be implemented using a common sense approach. Put quite simply, that involves engaging stakeholders and adhering to the Master Agreement as well as relevant Board Policies. Your Union has been on the front lines, advocating for a common sense approach to change from day one.

In February, the District wanted to change Starling K-8 to a 6-8 without staff or community engagement. Your union worked collaboratively with District leadership to halt the process and ensure decisions made about Starling K-8's future would be made after thoughtful discussion with engaged stakeholders.

The Union was informed of the District's plan to staff reduce 21 Transition Coordinators and shift their work to other members of our bargaining unit. Despite multiple discussions, the District announced their intention to move forward with their plan. Your union demanded that the District bargain over the proposed changes in the terms and conditions of employment for our bargaining unit members.

The District made the decision to eliminate Gifted Resource Coordinators and to drastically change the Gifted Service model for our students without engaging with stakeholders. The District's current Gifted Service model was adopted by the Board in the spring of 2015 after a months-long collaborative process that engaged stakeholders and resulted in improvements of service to our gifted students.

CEA organized a planned action for the first Board of Education meeting and your union's leadership was ready and willing to take further action if the rally did not achieve our desired results. CEA Vice President Phil Hayes and I stood in solidarity with the Transition Coordinators as they convinced District officials that their plan was harmful to our most vulnerable students. We also worked as intermediaries with the administration and the Senior Faculty Representative of the Gifted and Talented unit to achieve a more measured approach to the Gifted Service model with a promise of an ongoing collaborative review process that engaged stakeholders in the 2020-2021 school year.

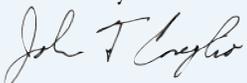

Our collaborative efforts resulted in the following joint media statement:

I appreciate that Dr. Dixon and the Columbus Education Association were able to come to a mutual understanding and agreement on how to best serve our students. It is not easy to reverse course once a decision has been made, and I applaud her willingness to make this tough decision.

While the District and the Columbus Education Association may disagree from time to time on the best way to serve our students, we all want what is best for our students and their families. We have been and will remain committed to working collaboratively to achieve this goal.

It is always CEA's goal to work collaboratively with our District partners. We encourage the District to first engage your union in meaningful dialogue when decisions are being discussed that affect our students, families and teachers. It is much more productive to work together and be at the table than it is to be sitting in the bleachers at a Board of Education meeting. When we stand together we are powerful advocates for what #ColumbusStudentsDeserve.

In Solidarity,

Ten Minute Meetings: It's our Moment to Stand up for our Students on Testing and EdChoice Vouchers

March 18th: Thousands to rally for voucher crisis fix

On Wednesday, Mar. 18, we will join thousands of educators, union members, and public education advocates from all over Ohio as #RedForEd takes over the Ohio Statehouse lawn. By Apr. 1, the Ohio House and Senate must reach a compromise on two very different bills to address the voucher crisis. Public education advocates support the house version of the bill, but negotiations are currently stalled with the deadline fast approaching. The after school #RedForEd rally will take place Wednesday, Mar. 18, at 4 p.m. on the Ohio Statehouse lawn (Broad St. and High St. downtown). Don't forget your Red CEA Solidarity Shirt and your family, friends, and neighbors! This rally is in our backyard and a huge CEA presence is needed. Confirm your participation during your upcoming ten-minute meeting.

MAT Team launches local push to counter over-testing

Our CEA Member Action Team (MAT) knows that there would be no voucher crisis without the menace of over-testing. After all, the current voucher scheme is based primarily on the testing performance of individual buildings. That's why this week in a ten-minute meeting, your FR will introduce our campaign to encourage our Columbus School Board to pass the Time to Teach, Time to Learn resolution.

The resolution is a statement on behalf of the CCS School Board that calls for two actions to be taken:

1. That the governor, state legislature, and state education board and administrators reexamine public school accountability systems in Ohio and develop a system based on multiple forms of evidence that does not require extensive standardized testing, more accurately reflects the broad range of student learning, and is used to support students and improve schools, and;
2. That the U.S. Congress and Administration reduce federal testing mandates and promote multiple forms of evidence of student learning and school quality.

Our campaign will incorporate CEA's organizing power in our buildings, our communities, online, and in person as we press our School Board to join our citywide and statewide call for a meaningful reduction in testing. Your FR will be asking you to sign a building-wide petition to support the resolution and to get ready to take action when called upon. Ultimately, it will take legislative action to see a true reduction in mandated standardized testing, and we know the power we have to build towards testing legislation will be greatly enhanced when the board of the largest school district in Ohio joins our call for Time to Teach, Time to Learn!

The CEA Master Agreement is set to expire in fewer than 891 days.

Grievance Update

Your Association works hard to protect your rights and maintain the integrity of the negotiated contract. While we advise bargaining unit members to work out problems at the building level first, we know this isn't always possible. We will regularly inform you of the grievances on which CEA is working.

Building/Unit/Administrator	Statement of Grievance	Relief Requested	Disposition
South HS Edmund Baker	The CEA/Board Agreement was violated, misinterpreted and/or misapplied when the principal of South HS, Edmund Baker, failed to adjust classroom numbers so that the class sizes/student load for teacher(s) at South HS meet contractual requirements.	That the principal immediately adjust numbers to make all classes and student loads for teacher(s) in the building compliant with the numbers required in the contract; and that no reprisals be taken against any member of the bargaining unit because of the filing of this grievance and that NO reprisals be taken against the grievant because of filing of this grievance.	Arbitrator selected. Arbitration hearing date pending.

Apply Now For CEA Mini-Grant

CEA Foundation Mini-Grants are members-only grants that support teaching and learning. The CEA Foundation's mission is to empower CEA members to design and implement innovative opportunities that will ultimately lead to higher achievement for all students. The original Spring application deadline of Mar. 13 has been extended to allow members more time to apply for these grants. There are three mini-grants for members to choose from:

- Early Educator Mini-Grant—20 total grants up to $300 each (for teachers in Years 1–5 of their career)
- STEM/STEAM Mini-Grant—10 total grants up to $600 each (open to all CEA members)
- General Mini-Grant—25 total grants up to $320 each (open to all CEA members)

Grants cover one academic year, and members are eligible to receive one Mini-Grant per year. These Mini-Grants are separate from the Teacher Dream Grant; all CEA Mini-Grants are funded completely through the CEA Foundation. Only CEA members are eligible to apply for the Mini-Grants. Members are strongly encouraged to think about innovative programs, units and/or clubs they personally fund.

To retrieve the application form, go to the CEA website and click on the Forms/Resources tab. Scroll down to "CEA Foundation Mini-Grant" then click on the "Spring 2020 Application" link. Completed applications should be turned in to the CEA office no later than 4:30 p.m., Mar. 25, 2020.
